

RIGGS BANK GETS IN FOUR AFFIDAVITS AS COURT HEARING STARTS

One By a Young Woman Declared "Pilloried as a De-liah of Wall Street"

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Against the Government's objection, the Riggs National Bank was permitted, when its case against Secretary McAdoo, Comptroller Williams and Treasurer Burke opened in the District Court here today, to file four affidavits "for what they were worth," as Judge McCoy expressed it.

One was by Miss Lotta M. Taylor, declared by Treasury affidavits to have been employed by the Riggs Bank and the National City of New York while having desk room in the Comptroller's office, until expelled by Secretary McAdoo's order. Attorney Frank J. Hogan, of counsel for the Riggs, declared Miss Taylor had been "pilloried as a Deliah of Wall Street."

"There's nothing to our affidavit," rejoined Samuel Untermyer, for the Treasury officials, "reflecting in the slightest on the young woman."

Miss Taylor's affidavit was in denial of the statement that she was expelled from the Comptroller's office. The others were by President Charles G. Glover of the Riggs and two by Joseph Evans Jr., in answer to Treasury affidavits listing Riggs loans to former Secretaries and Assistant Secretaries of the Treasury—listed, Judge McCoy said he understood, in support of the contention that the bank made loans on insider security.

In feeling between lawyers developed early and finally the Judge announced: "This court will not undertake to determine when bad blood got into this case nor will it be used as a laboratory to test it."

Polo Game Injury Fatal.
